

Thomas Flint & Ellen Hide

Ellen Mary Hyde Flint

This excerpt is from Eva Tagg Flemings life history.

All that I remember of my grandmother Flint is that she wore all dark clothes and an old fashioned bonnet. She and grandfather had a large family. My grandfathers great great grandparents (on my mothers side) lived where Hyde Park, England is now. It was these Hyde grandparents that had their home and estate on this same ground, and when they passed on the L. C. C. London County Council took it over and made a park of it and named it Hyde Park, in memory of the family.

Note: Cathie has tried to document and find out about Hyde Park and it's history and has not been able to find any information about this story. It would be nice in the future to be able to document this information.
